BAPRAS Congress 2023: Interface

29 November - 1 December
Newcastle

THE BAPRAS COLLECTION

We are currently developing an online “Virtual Museum” aiming to make it easier for both professionals and members of the public to access and learn about our Collection.

This is an ambitious project, progressively opening a total of 12 “Rooms” over two “Floors”.

The rooms will include:

- The Operating Theatre
- The BAPRAS Room
- Impact of Plastic Surgery

Would you like to get involved?

We currently welcome help from members on two areas:

Submit your art

The “Art in Plastic Surgery” Gallery Room will highlight the role of historic medical illustrators such as Dickie Orpen, but will also display general works of art, or sculpture, produced by BAPRAS members.

These need not feature clinical subjects, landscapes and portraits will be accepted.

Contribute to the narrative

We need members with an interest in medical history to write short pieces.

Contributors will be given access to historical material from our archive. If you have knowledge of specific events like Piper Alpha or Bradford Fire Disasters, the Falklands and recent Middle Eastern conflicts you can contribute your own images and writing.

If you would like to contribute and become part of our history, contact us by email at collection@bapras.org.uk

PRESIDENT'S WELCOME

Welcome everyone to BAPRAS 2023 in Newcastle, the city I now call home, famous for many things including its iconic bridges such as the Tyne Bridge, the Millennium Bridge and the oldest combined road and rail bridge in the world built since 1849. The meeting venue is the Hilton Hotel overlooking the picturesque quayside where I would encourage all to spend an evening or two.

In 1910, William J. Mayo said 'it is necessary to develop medicine as a corporate science'. From this came the development of multidisciplinary team (MDT) working which has been proven to improve patient outcomes, our ultimate goal. Plastic surgery is the broadest surgical specialty with our members being involved in more MDTs than any other surgical specialty. We have chosen this congress, themed INTERFACE, to highlight this collaboration with other colleagues. Our Special Interest and Advisory Group (SIAG) chairs have worked with their counterparts in other surgical disciplines and the programme committee to produce a high quality scientific programme to educate us all.

Microsurgery, including lymphatic surgery has provided some of the biggest advances in reconstructive surgery and I look forward to hearing Dr Piñal and Dr Campisi, who are internationally renowned experts in their fields. We will also be running a Microsurgery Masterclass throughout the meeting. I would urge all trainees and senior microsurgeons to avail themselves of this opportunity.

In recognition of the fact that all plastic surgeons on the specialist register are trained in aesthetic surgery, the committee has decided that this session will be plenary to avoid any conflict in delegates wanting to attend.

With the current publicity of professional misconduct in the workplace, there will be a session on how we can address this and be good mentors. I welcome Professor Naraynsingh, from the University of the West Indies, to give us his views on mentorship.

I have had the privilege of spending some time with Naveen Cavale in the last year and look forward to hearing of the great work being carried out by BFIRST. Hopefully, some of you will be inspired to support the organisation.

This year the fellowship drinks evening will be taking place on the Wednesday evening. I hope to see as many trainees and fellowship directors as possible. The success of this reception is dependent on your participation.

On Thursday morning, I look forward to the Gillies lecture which was first delivered by Prof. Kilner in 1961. These lectures honour our history and founders. This year we have a most deserving candidate in Mr. Stuart Watson who has had an amazing career in Glasgow, home of the historic Canniesburn unit. There will be limb trauma and oncology sessions for plastic and orthopaedic surgeons as well as research and innovation sessions.

Friday will be a busy day with our 6th Annual Nurses Education Day. The BAPRAS Council recognises the invaluable role that nurses play in our practice and we welcome them and hope that this group grows in the future.

Throughout congress, there will be podium presentations and posters. These have been carefully selected from numerous submissions and I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of those who made submissions. Without your hard work and dedication, the quality of our meeting would not be the standard that it is.

Congress dinner this year promises to be the most attended in the history of the Association. There will be some post-prandial live music and a dance floor for those of us so inclined. I would encourage everyone to take this opportunity to socialise/network.

My colleagues and I from the Newcastle unit are honoured to host everyone and if there is anything we can do to enhance your experience of congress, please let us know.

SPY-PHI

Changing the way you see your patients

For an enlightened perspective on surgery.

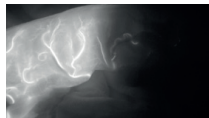

Fluorescence Imaging Redefined

The SPY Portable Handheld Imager (SPY-PHI) utilises SPY Fluorescence Imaging Technology to assist surgeons in the visual assessment of lymphatic and vascular circulation. The above applications are suitable for breast, plastic, gyn oncological, reconstructive and gastrointestinal procedures among others. SPY-PHI's compact, lightweight design makes it suitable for use in the operating room as well as smaller spaces such as ambulatory surgical centres.

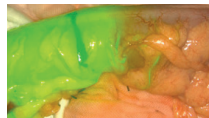

SPY-PHI is a versatile fluorescence imaging system that provides clinicians with an innovative tool for perfusion assessment, featuring:

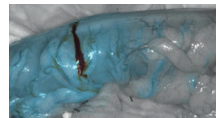

White Light Mode

SPY Fluorescence Mode

Overlay Fluorescence Mode

Color Segmented Fluorescence Mode

Flexible working distance and wide imaging field

Designed to allow clinicians to assess perfusion using a wide range of viewing distances, allowing for versatility in the operating room

Multiple visualisation modes

Combines fluorescence signal information with vivid white light images in real-time

Brilliant image quality

The 1080p resolution at 60fps, designed to provide realistic colour reproduction, results in a sharp, highly detailed image

Ambient light immunity

Allows the operator to work fluidly without disrupting activities around the surgical table

EXHIBITOR INFORMATION

Baxter Healthcare Ltd (education partner) Stand 13

Every day, millions of patients and caregivers rely on Baxter's leading portfolio of critical care, nutrition, renal, hospital and surgical products. For more than 85 years, they have been operating at the critical intersection where innovations that save and sustain lives meet the healthcare providers that make it happen. Baxter's clinically differentiated surgical care products support haemostasis, tissue sealing, reconstruction, tissue repair and adhesion reduction.

We're delighted to be partnering with BAPRAS, which embodies our mission to Advance the Art of Healing through educational platforms. We are really excited about the opportunity to share how our robust portfolio has been demonstrated to reduce intra- and post-operative complications. Fewer complications often translates into faster recovery for your patients, an improved patient experience and greater cost efficiencies for your hospital.

Severn Healthcare (headline sponsor)

Stand 16

SEVERN Healthcare Technologies is a medical device distribution company supplying market leading, high-quality products, across multiple specialties.

For those clinicians familiar with Severn Healthcare, they will know us as the UK supplier of the GEM anastomotic Coupler, and GEM Flow Coupler for monitoring of buried free flaps.

We're also the supplier of the smallest micro clip in the world, "GEM Superfine, which is particularly useful for pedicle side branch ligation and those with an interest in hand and paediatric surgery.

This year was a particularly exciting year for the company with the launch of our new GEM Microsutures.

Despite only being launched in the last couple of months, the sutures have been widely well received, with comments made around the delicate and malleable nature of the needle, non-memory chord and good knot security.

A special mention should also be made about the anti-glare and high visibility "COBRA BLACK" suture- a must for microsurgeons...!

The Severn commitment to the surgical specialties that we serve is to consistently provide gold standard technologies that are being continuously enhanced by innovation and development.

Our ambition is to provide added value in everything that we do combined with great customer service, for all our customers.
